When people want to remember all Life and include all living beings, or when ten people but not ten Jews are present to support a mourner, or when an English kaddish would be meaningful, this version of kaddish can be said. It includes additions in brackets for the equivalent of Kaddish Shalem and Kaddish deRabanan.

Mourners: May the Name that fills all names be blessed and strengthened in this created world. May the Breath of Life that fills all breaths fill us with Life, and may it guide and rule our actions and visions, in our lives and in our time, now in this world, and in every moment to come. And let us say: Amen.

Everyone: Amen. May that great Name be blessed within us and in all worlds, for all time.

Mourners: May Holiness stream forth from its Source, full of blessing and beauty. May the Name that weaves together all Life and all creatures be blessed and praised, made beautiful and resplendent, lifted up and exalted, to the highest and most majestic...

Everyone: Blessed be!

Mourners: ...beyond all the praises and blessings and songs and prayers that can ever be said in the whole world. And let us say:

Everyone: Amen.

Mourners: [May our prayers be received by the One who is our source, and] [May we be nourished and sustained along with everyone everywhere who seeks to understand this Name and this holiness.] May the Life and Love within us and between us be strengthened. May the Breath that fills all breaths fill all Creation with Peace, and may Peace and Life flow to us, to our community, to all peoples, and to all beings in this world. And let us say:

Everyone: Amen.

Mourners: The One who makes Peace in the furthest reaches of Creation will bring Peace to us and to all living beings. And let us say:

Everyone: Amen.
